The mission of the Arsenal Family and Children's Center (AFCC) is to promote and to be an advocate for the healthy development of children and to support their parents in building a nurturing relationship with each child. Through a diversity of programs and partnerships with other community agencies, Arsenal strives to reach children whose circumstances foster a positive start in life as well as children whose circumstances make such a beginning uncertain. In addition, Arsenal educates other professionals about the structure and content of quality early childhood programming for children and families.

Founded in the Lawrenceville section of Pittsburgh in 1953 by pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock, Arsenal was a training site for pediatric students to study normal child development. In 1980, Arsenal became a private, non-profit organization, and in 1986, at the request of the Mon Valley Committee for the Unemployed, Arsenal established a second site in the City of Clairton.

Today, Arsenal operates as a developmental preschool and social service agency in the Friendship area of Pittsburgh, offering an array of programs and services for young children and their families and serving as a training site for colleges and universities in the Pittsburgh community. Our professional staff, many of whom have been at Arsenal for more than ten years, are uniquely qualified to serve the diversity of the children in our programs.
